The curriculum supports this mission through three perspectives:

1. social and economic justice through the advancement of human rights,
2. strengths-based empowerment, and
3. practice with families within a global context.

Families within a global context define the initial focal social unit for all social work practice at Monmouth University.

Our three perspectives inform both our B.S.W. and M.S.W. programs as they contribute to the development of students’ knowledge, values, and skills:

1. To conceptualize and contribute to social work theory, knowledge, values, and skills on a generalist level for B.S.W. students, and on an advanced, concentration-specific level for M.S.W. students through three interrelated perspectives: social and economic justice through the advancement of human rights, strengths-based empowerment, and practice with families within a global context;
2. To develop the skills to understand, analyze, and evaluate the quality of life and well-being of vulnerable families, individuals, organizations, communities, and nations that is grounded in a strengths-based empowerment approach for social and economic justice and human rights;
3. To prepare social work practitioners to develop and systematically apply knowledge, values, skills, and ethics in their work with families, individuals, organizations, communities, and nations of diverse cultural contexts in working collaboratively toward the prevention and solution of social problems;
4. To think critically, analyze, produce, and disseminate research that informs theory, policy, practice, and evaluation in social work;
5. To collaborate with and support vulnerable populations through advocacy, social action, volunteerism, service, education, and consultation, working from a strengths-based empowerment approach for social and economic justice and human rights.

Master of Social Work Concentrations

There are two concentrations offered at Monmouth University at the graduate level:

- Clinical Practice with Families and Children (C.P.F.C.) (http://catalog.monmouth.edu/graduate-catalog/social-work/msw-clinical-practice-families-children-concentration) and

Common to both concentrations is a commitment to the mission of the School of Social Work at Monmouth University: improving the quality of life of vulnerable individuals, families, groups, and communities on the local, national, and international levels.

The courses in the Clinical Practice with Families and Children (C.P.F.C.) concentration prepares students for advanced social work practice with individuals, couples, families, and groups. It builds on the foundation-year course work where the full complement of social work roles was explored. The advanced year, however, focuses primarily on clinical counseling skills and culturally competent use of self in complex working relationships with clients and client groups. While the emphasis is on clients’ strengths, and working together toward their empowerment is continued, students learn about and apply clinical skills to family, children, and mental-health agency settings; child welfare, criminal justice, and host settings in which clinical social work most often takes place.

The Global and Community Practice (G.C.P.) concentration primarily uses community development theory and practice to address developing-world social and economic justice, inequality, oppression, and discrimination issues in developed and developing countries. Culturally competent community development respects the integrity and worth of individuals and communities with diverse backgrounds. G.C.P. focuses the practice of social work at mezzo and macro levels with agencies and client populations within the context of global interdependence of social problems. Courses stress the knowledge, values, skills, and ethics of practice at the mezzo and macro levels, with specific content on the ethics of the International Federation of Social Workers and the declarations of the United Nations.
Graduate Certificate: Play and Expressive Therapies

The Graduate Certificate in Play and Expressive Therapies is an eighteen-credit program and provides the 150-course-hour requirement. Additionally, students in this program work toward acquiring the necessary 500 hours of experiential practice in play therapy and fifty hours of supervision, as required by the Association for Play Therapy (APT), Inc., for the Registered Play Therapist (RPT) certification.

Addiction Professionals Certification Board of New Jersey, Inc.

Since the fall of 2000, the School of Social Work at Monmouth University, in cooperation with the Addiction Professionals Certification Board of New Jersey, Inc., has offered the course work needed for the Certified Alcohol and Drug Counselor (CADC) certification. In the summer of 2004, the certification became a license. The Department of Social Work continues to work with the State of New Jersey, Department of Law and Public Safety, Division of Consumer Affairs, Board of Marriage and Family Therapists, Drug and Alcohol Committee to provide the course work needed for the state-issued Licensed Certified Alcohol and Drug Counselor (LCADC).

The School of Social Work recognizes the need for addictions training to serve the substance abuse-affected population and their families. In order to serve this special population, the State Board requires that proper certifications be in place or in process.

Any M.S.W. student (in the C.P.F.C. concentration) who takes the elective course SW-604 Clinical Practice in Addictions (3 cr.) and a one-credit course that are offered each year here at Monmouth University will have completed the necessary course work towards his or her LCADC. Students who are completing their internship hours in a drug and alcohol placement may count those hours toward the required field hours for the LCADC as well as their M.S.W. degree. The course work and field hours are good for five years after they have been taken, and students are required to keep their own records. All other requirements towards the LCADC will need to be met by the student on his or her own, according to the State of New Jersey, Department of Law and Public Safety, Division of Consumer Affairs, Board of Marriage and Family Therapists, Drug and Alcohol Committee. For additional information regarding the requirements for the LCADC, please contact:

SW-513  Social Work Leadership and Management  Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): SW-503, SW-505, SW-507, SW-509, SW-513, SW-515, SW-518, SW-519, and SW-510 and SW-520 both passed with a grade of B or higher.
Term Offered: Fall Term
Course Type(s): None
Students will learn the basic principles and applied practice of management and leadership in nonprofit human service and nongovernmental organizations from a social work perspective grounded in social justice and human rights. A wide range of human services management competencies are studied in this class while identifying internal and external environments for human service organizations and non-governmental organizations. Also, this course will review various organizational theories; human resource management skills; finance resource management skills and knowledge; and other current concerns in human service management.

SW-614  Grant Writing  Credits: 3
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): TPS
Provides students with the opportunity to develop grant writing skills, to apply for a grant for their field internship agency and to begin to learn about project management. Emphasis will be placed on writing skills, concept development, program development and budget preparation. This course is suitable for students in either concentration.

SW-615  Advanced Global and Community Practice  Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): SW-503, SW-505, SW-507, SW-509, SW-513, SW-515, SW-518, SW-519; and SW-510 and SW-520 both passed with a grade of B or higher.
Term Offered: Fall Term
Course Type(s): None
This is the first course in the concentration on Global and Community Practice. It is designed to introduce the student to local and global social work practice, with a special emphasis on community development and community organizing. The historical and current political context of development, the policies and practices of international aid, humanitarian agencies, governments and multilateral organizations and the role of social work in addressing human rights and needs are critically examined. Emphasis is given to the impact of social welfare policy decisions upon oppressed population groups and the implications of these decisions for human rights and social and economic justice. The importance of engaging organizations, community groups and institutions and allies to work together to address problems or conditions they have identified and wish to solve or change will also be highlighted. The macro context of the relationship and tensions between Global North and Global South development and practice are explored, as is the impact of this context on global community practice. Knowledge, skills and awareness for community practice work in multicultural, transnational, and global settings are emphasized in this course. Engagement of communities and organizations via social media campaigns and collaborative in-person activities are also highlighted. Students must earn a grade of "B" or higher in this class or it will have to be repeated and this may delay a student's ability to move forward in the program. Prerequisites: SW-503, SW-505, SW-507, SW-509, SW-513, SW-515, SW-518, SW-519, and SW-510 and SW-520 both passed with a grade of B or higher.

SW-616  Social Work Practice with the Aged  Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): SW-503, SW-505, SW-507, SW-509, SW-513, SW-515, SW-518, SW-519; and SW-510 and SW-520 both passed with a grade of B or higher.
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): None
Designed for students specializing in practice with the aged and their families. Examines normative and pathological aging personality. Emphasis is placed on the development of specialized knowledge and skills for assessment, intervention, and evaluation of a variety of issues and needs common in later life. Discussions on the applicability of certain interventions with the older adult and the family will be presented along with ethno-cultural and gender considerations.

SW-617  Environmental Justice and Sustainable Development in Social Work  Credits: 3
Term Offered: Fall Term
Course Type(s): None
Addresses environmental crises and sustainable development challenges facing social workers in local and global arenas. Special attention will be made to conceptualize these challenges, themes and issues using a social justice and human rights framework embodied in Green Social Work. Social work pathways to facilitating environmental justice through local and global policy, coalitions and programming. Students must earn a "B" or higher in this class or it will have to be repeated and this may delay a student's ability to move forward in the program.

SW-618  Social Work Administration  Credits: 3
Term Offered: Fall Term
Course Type(s): TPS
Designed to deepen the student's knowledge of the information and skills needed to organize and manage a modern human service not-for-profit organization. Except for those in private practice, most social workers function within an organization or agency environment-very often in the not-for-profit sector. Within five years many holding MSW degrees will hold management positions in those organizations. Allows students to gain some preparation for this future possibility, while at the same time providing them with the tools to understand administrative processes in their organizations. Also listed as PS-618.

SW-619  Social Work Supervision  Credits: 3
Course Type(s): None
Familiarizes students with the basic concepts of supervision as a vital component of social work practice in three areas: practice skills, administrative needs and evaluation. Covers a historical and theoretical view of supervision, techniques, styles, supervise counter transference, authority, power and the supervision process. Emphasis is placed on the dynamics of supervision, ethical and value principles, professional boundaries and supervision as a leadership function.
SW-621  Social Work with Military Families  Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): SW-503, SW-505, SW-507, SW-509, SW-513, SW-515, SW-518, SW-519; and SW-510 and SW-520 both passed with a grade of B or higher
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): None
This course is an MSW elective. It is designed to assist students in understanding military systems and cultures within the United States. Also, we will examine contemporary areas of practice for social workers within and outside of the military. Special attention will be given to the impacts of the current and historical conflicts on military personnel, their families, and veterans and also to the ethical issues of working with these populations.

SW-623  Social Innovations  Credits: 3
Course Type(s): None
The problems facing today's world - global poverty, disease, climate change - are more complex than ever before, and solutions require interdisciplinary thinking and cross-sector collaboration. Social innovation represents a new paradigm that supports the development, implementation, and sustainability of transformational responses to social needs. Social innovation focuses attention on the ideas and solutions that create social value - as the processes through which they are generated, not just on individuals and organizations. This course introduces students to the strategies and processes of social innovation in practice. Students will gain knowledge of strategies of change that include the innovative activities of social and political entrepreneurs, activists, organizations, and social movements. Students will examine several individuals and groups who have catalyzed important positive social change through different organizational platforms - in the market, in government, within the nonprofit sector, and increasingly in the space between these three sectors. Throughout the course students will examine social innovation through case studies, best practice analyses, and relevant readings.

SW-625  Program Planning and Evaluation  Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): SW-503, SW-505, SW-507, SW-509, SW-513, SW-515, SW-518, SW-519; and SW-510 and SW-520 both passed with a grade of B or higher
Term Offered: Spring Term
Course Type(s): None
Provides information about the techniques and procedures involved in the planning process and in the application of research methods to social work practice at the community level. Focus will be on the conceptualization of a social program and on process or planning and the outcome evaluation research. Different approaches to planning and evaluation from a strengths-based empowerment perspective will be surveyed. Students will deal with the theoretical and practical problems of planning and evaluating social welfare programs and services for individuals and families in a global context.

SW-626  Evaluation of Practice Effectiveness  Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): SW-503, SW-505, SW-507, SW-509, SW-513, SW-515, SW-518 and SW-519; and SW-510 and SW-520 both passed with a grade of B or higher
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): None
Provides information about the values, techniques and procedures involved in the application of research methods to social services and programming. The focus will be on the conceptualization of a social program and on process and outcome evaluation research. Students will deal with the theoretical and practical problems of evaluating social work and social welfare programs and services.

SW-627  Implications of Social Justice and Human Rights for Social Work  Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): SW-503, SW-505, SW-507, SW-509, SW-513, SW-515, SW-518, SW-519; and SW-510 and SW-520 both passed with a grade of B or higher
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): None
First of a two-course sequence examining the implications and applications of social justice and human rights within social work. Within this course, students develop their knowledge of social justice and human rights principles and theories. Students analyze the implications of those principles and theories for the profession of social work as they develop a proposal for the implementation of social justice and human rights in either an agency-based, creative, or research-focused project.

SW-628  School Social Work  Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): SW-503, SW-505, SW-507, SW-509, SW-510, SW-513, SW-515, SW-518, SW-519; and SW-510 and SW-520 both passed with a grade of B or higher
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): None
Designed for students in the MSW program who are either in a school social work field internship, who currently work in the school system, or who anticipate becoming a school social worker in the future. Provides a conceptual framework for understanding social work services in schools. It will also cover educational policy, pupil rights, and the current social issues that school personnel handle.

SW-629  Spirituality and Social Work  Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): SW-503, SW-505, SW-507, SW-509, SW-513, SW-515, SW-518, SW-519; and SW-510 and SW-520 both passed with a grade of B or higher
Term Offered: Fall Term
Course Type(s): None
Provides a forum in which students will explore spirituality in social work practice. Through a critically reflective approach, this course prepares students to respond competently and ethically to diverse spiritual perspectives in relation to themselves, their clients and the helping relationships they create with them.
The effect of a crisis on the individual, the family will also be explored. The issue of categories of events (private vs. public) will be discussed. The education and training of the crisis intervention specialist addresses the issue of scope and timing of services. Examines the multiple definitions, concepts, and models of crisis intervention. Addresses the issue of how to use this knowledge to support children’s safety, permanency, and well-being through case analysis and corresponding interventions tailored for them and their biological and resource families. Trauma is broadly defined, and includes children and adolescents exposed to traumatic events - including abuse and neglect and witnessing interpersonal crime (e.g. domestic violence), community violence, and other traumatic events - who have come into contact with the child welfare system. Students are given a general overview of child traumatic stress, trained on the Essential Elements of trauma-informed child welfare practice, and provided practical strategies that social workers can use when they encounter children who have experienced trauma.
