PS-105  Introduction to Public Policy
Credits: 3
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): PO, PSPA, SS.SV
Analysis of policy-making processes in American society, including health care, the environment, education, crime, and employment; application of competing perspective and value orientation to policy areas; impact on specific groups within American society and the global community.

PS-107  Introduction to Social Justice
Credits: 3
Term Offered: Fall Term
Course Type(s): SS.SV
Provides a conceptual and practical basis to understand, interpret, and solve social problems in fair, equitable, and just ways. Also listed as SO-107.

PS-108  Model United Nations
Credits: 3
Course Type(s): PSIP, RD
International relations is a subfield of political science that examines the nature of power and its distribution around the world. Scholars interested in international relations have developed a variety of simulations to seek greater understanding of state behavior. This course will simulate the policies and procedures of the dominant organs of the United Nations in order to gain a greater understanding of international issues like climate change, terrorism, humanitarian aid, international trade and commerce, and war and peace.

PS-109  Civic Engagement and Leadership
Credits: 1
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): None
Civic responsibility, engagement, and leadership are encouraged through active student involvement in a community or campus organization. Students will perform twelve hours of public service over the course of the semester working for an organization that addresses a particular issue of public concern. Also listed as SO-109.

PS-198  Special Topics in Political Science (100 Level)
Credits: 1-3
Term Offered: Spring Term
Course Type(s): None
An intensive study of a particular subject or problem in political science to be announced prior to registration. May be conducted on either a lecture-discussion or a seminar basis. If a prerequisite is required it will be announced in the course schedule.

PS-199  Reading and Research in Political Science
Credits: 1-3
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): None
Guided study of a topic in political science not substantially treated in a regular course, under the direction of a member of the political science faculty. Extensive reading and at least one written report are required. Prior permission of the directing professor and department chair is required to take this course.

PS-202  State and Local Government
Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): PS-101 or PS-103; and EN-101 and EN-102 or permission of the instructor
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): PSAM, WT
A comparative study of state, local, and suburban politics in the United States with special emphasis on New Jersey and the New Jersey-New York metropolitan area.

PS-212  Workshop in NJ's County Pre-Trial Prosecution System: Legal and Political Aspects
Credits: 3

An introduction to the different ways in which social scientists study the social world. Designed to develop students' understanding of the major purposes of social research as well as the major types of quantitative and qualitative research designs. Students will learn the research process itself, from conceptualization and measurement to operationalization, sampling, ethics, and the analysis and presentation of their proposed study. As part of the research process, students will use spreadsheet, presentation, and word processing software to build datasets, analyze data, and design and present research. Also listed as SO-270. Sociology majors should register for SO-250. This course is for Political Science majors only or other majors with instructor consent.

A sociological and political look at global inequalities. Explores diverse themes and aspects of a global society, including the forces that are causing and perpetuating global inequalities. It also looks at the social, political, economic, and cultural consequences of those inequalities. Also listed as SO-274.

Introduces students to the critical political issues and challenges in Latin America, a geographic region that includes Mexico, Central America, the Caribbean and South America. Hemispheric integration continues to accelerate, and political developments south of the border increasingly impact the United States. Immigration, trade, drugs, and the environment require hemisphere collaboration among a diverse set of peoples and governments. Surveys contemporary politics and economics, as well as the basic regional history in a way that invites comparison and the development of regional (Southern Cone, Andean Region, Central America, Caribbean) and hemispheric perspectives on the challenges linked to hemispheric integration.

The study of gender and how it relates to politics. Includes an analysis of the women's movement through historical literature by and about women. Also includes feminist and gender theories, the mass behavior of women, elite women, and public policy as it relates to women's issues.

The role that international institutions, transnational actors, and foreign governments play in the production, distribution, and consumption of resources will be investigated. Since much of international political economy has to do with various thinkers and schools of thought, an appropriate emphasis will be given to some of the important works in the field. For example, we will be analyzing the contributions of Liberal, Marxist, and Statist thinkers and the various perspectives that have been used to analyze the way policies are made, agreements are reached, and resources distributed. Following the establishment of this theoretical framework, we will focus on the growth of regional integration, the role of hegemony in maintaining the stability of international systems, strategies of economic development, and the role of multinational and transnational companies in both the industrial and developing world. In essence, this course is concerned with looking at the relationship between power and wealth and the balance between the state and the market. Also listed as SO-278.

Through actual work experience, connects classroom learning and real-world practice. Under the guidance of a faculty advisor, students select a cooperative placement. Students will spend ten to fifteen hours per week at their placement. Departmental approval is required to take this course. Repeatable for credit.

An internship in a political office. The student will keep a daily log and develop a research topic on the basis of the log and experience. By working an eight-hour day from Monday through Friday, the intern will develop firsthand knowledge of a state or local office and will secure an experience rating for future positions after graduation. Departmental approval is required to take this course.

How the mass media is constrained and protected by the law and court interpretation. Overview will focus on libel, copyright, obscenity, free press, and other legal/illegal aspects. Also listed as CO-290.

An intensive study of a particular subject or problem in political science to be announced prior to registration. May be conducted on either a lecture-discussion or a seminar basis. If a prerequisite is required it will be announced in the course schedule.

PS-325 Survey Research Consulting Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): PS-250 or SO-250 or CO-292 or SW-409 or PY-220 or CJ-315 or HLS-315 or HE-290 or NU-355 or permission of the instructor
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): EX5
Provides students with real-world experience in the application of social science methodology, specifically survey research. The course is designed to strengthen social science research methods skills as well as competencies in professional communication and collaboration. Students, as a class, will work on a small-scale project (e.g. needs assessment, program evaluation, marketing study, etc.) for a “client” - a non-profit organization, government agency, small business, or academic institution - who has agreed to collaborate as a service learning opportunity. The client is not paying for this service and understands the limitations of working with consultants-in-training. However, the course will strive to adhere to the highest standards in both survey research practice and the client-consultant relationship. Also listed as SO-325.

PS-330 Environmental Policy Credits: 3
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): MEBP, PSAM, PSPA, SUS
Introduces social, political, and organizational processes that influence and shape environmental and natural resource policy. Focuses on the political arena and examines how citizens and community groups influence legislative initiatives. Also listed as PS-330.

PS-332 Climate Change Adaptation and Policy Credits: 3
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): MEBP, SUS
Climate Change Adaptation and Policy provides a survey of the global engagements surrounding climate change adaptation and policy that currently affects billions around the globe. The subject matter covered includes understanding how to evaluate the proxies and impacts of climate change, the geography of climate change, and the policies and planning tools that are used in addressing the current and forecasted effects of climate change. The class includes local, regional, national, and international examples within a mixed-methods approach that simultaneously uses a scientific, natural processes understanding that is juxtaposed with policy-based initiatives that deal with the real-life costs and procedures in addressing climate change. Also listed as SO-332.

PS-350 American Political Economy Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): PS-103
Term Offered: Spring Term
Course Type(s): PO, PSAM, PSPA
Examines the institutional, economic, and political factors that influence the economic decision-making process at all levels of government. Analysis of the theories, processes, principles, and concepts of public budgeting and governmental management of the economy. Also listed as PO-350.

PS-351 Public Administration Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): PS-101 or PS-103
Term Offered: Fall Term
Course Type(s): PSPA
The administration, organization, management, financial, and personnel problems within the various governmental agencies; problems arising from the interrelations of the three branches of government.

PS-352 Public Personnel Administration Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): PS-101 or PS-103
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): PSPA
The nature of the career service in government, effective tools in personnel administration, and the changing role of the Civil Service Commission.

PS-353 Public Budgeting Process Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): PS-101 or PS-103
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): PSPA
A treatment of the budget as an instrument of public policy and marginal control of public programs.

PS-355 Administrative Law and Regulation Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): PS-101 or PS-103
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): PSAL, PSPA, SJL
The federal and state regulatory agencies, commissions, and boards; how they function, the legal procedures they employ, to what extent they are successful in serving and protecting the community, and efforts to effect their reform.

PS-360 Political Economy in the Developing World Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): PS-101
Term Offered: Spring Term
Course Type(s): PSIP, SJS
This course introduces undergraduate students to the core concepts, theories and debates of political economy in the context of developing world countries. The primary unit of analysis will be the national case study (i.e., Brazil or Indonesia) rather than the international system or international institutions (for example, World Bank, IMF or global financial markets.) The aim is to provide the intellectual tool set to evaluate questions and challenges of political and economic development and modernization across a range of national case studies from Latin America, the Caribbean, Africa, the Middle East and Asia. Also listed as SO-360.

PS-361 Comparative European Governments Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): PS-101 or PS-103
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): PSCG
A comparative analysis of political processes in Western-European governments, with special emphasis on the methodology of comparative politics.

PS-364 Law and Society Credits: 3
Prerequisite(s): SO-101 or PS-101 or PS-103
Term Offered: All Terms
Course Type(s): PSAL, SIN, SJL
The evolution of law, social forces influencing law, social impact of law, and law as an instrument of social control and social change. Also listed as SO-364.
AN-371, and SO-371.

Economic factors and policies that affect them. Also listed as SW-371, community organizations and reflecting on the social, political, and their understanding of human security by volunteering in international applications through service-learning projects. Students will enhance and policies based on human security, and learning about their understanding of how "sports" impacts society, business and the economy. However, the courses are non-sequential and students can be successful in each course independent from the other as they are both designed to be introductory courses related to governance and regulation, and legal implications in the business of sports, respectively.

PS-365 Sports Law I: Governance and Regulation
- Term Offered: Fall Term
- Course Type(s): PSAL
- Credits: 3

Sports law is a subfield of law and political science that examines a broad mixture of laws that apply to athletes and the sports they play. Many legal scholars argue that the term "sports law" is a misnomer because "sports" represent the convergence of activity and entertainment that is governed by the legal system in its entirety. Accordingly, this course provides an overview of many areas of the law, particularly in the realm of governance and regulations. Through the assigned readings and research projects, students will gain valuable insight as to how "sports" are regulated by the laws of our country but also by the governing bodies and institutions that oversee the formation, activity, and "entertainment" of each sport. This course is related to Sports Law II: The Business of Sports Law in that both courses provide student with in-depth analysis of law as it relates to sports but also how "sports law" impacts society, business and the economy. However, the courses are non-sequential and students can be successful in each course independent from the other as they are both designed to be introductory courses related to governance and regulation, and legal implications in the business of sports, respectively.

PS-366 Sports Law II: The Business of Sports Law
